INTRODUCTION

- In enacting the Federal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act ("FDCPA"), Congress 2 1. found that "there is abundant evidence of the use of abusive, deceptive, and unfair 3 debt collection practices by many debt collectors," and that "abusive debt 4 collection practices contribute to the number of personal bankruptcies, to marital 5 instability, to the loss of jobs, and to invasions of individual privacy." 15 U.S.C. 6 §1692(a). Congress also found that the "existing laws and procedures for 7 redressing these injuries are inadequate to protect consumers," and that "abusive 8 debt collection practices are carried on to a substantial extent in interstate 9 commerce and through means and instrumentalities of such commerce." 15 10 U.S.C. §1692(b), and (d).
- 11 2. The California legislature has determined that the banking and credit system and 12 grantors of credit to consumers are dependent upon the collection of just and 13 owing debts and that unfair or deceptive collection practices undermine the 14 public confidence that is essential to the continued functioning of the banking 15 and credit system and sound extensions of credit to consumers. The Legislature 16 has further determined that there is a need to ensure that debt collectors exercise 17 this responsibility with fairness, honesty, and due regard for the debtor's rights 18 and that debt collectors must be prohibited from engaging in unfair or deceptive 19 acts or practices. See Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1788.1 (a)-(b).
- 20 The plaintiff ZACHARY POWELL ("Plaintiff"), individually and on behalf of 3. 21 all other similarly situated, bring this class action against UHG I LLC (hereinafter 22 referred to as "Defendant") for its harmful and unconscionable debt collection 23 practices. 24
- 4. Defendant is a third-party debt buyer that purchases large numbers of debts and 25 then mass files lawsuits against the alleged debtors. A portion of Defendant's 26 total portfolio were charged off loans between consumers and payday lenders such as CashNetUSA. These loans have exorbitantly high and unconscionable

1		interest rates, in violation of consumer protection statutes.
2	5.	Plaintiff brings this action on behalf of himself and all other consumers that are
3		similarly situated for Defendant's violations of (i) Fair Debt Collection Practices
4		Act, 15 U.S.C. 1692, et seq. ("FDCPA"); (ii) Rosenthal Fair Debt Collection
5		Practices Act, Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1788, et seq.; and (iii) California's Unfair
6		Competition Law, Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 ("UCL").
7	6.	Under these statutes, Plaintiff seeks disgorgement of ill-gotten profits, actual
8		damages, statutory damages, punitive damages, injunctive relief, and attorney's
9		fees and costs.
10	7.	Plaintiff makes these allegations on information and belief, with the exception of
11		those allegations that pertain to Plaintiff, or to Plaintiffs' Counsel, which Plaintiff
12		alleges on personal knowledge.
13	8.	Unless otherwise indicated, the use of Defendant's name in this Complaint
14		includes all agents, employees, officers, members, directors, heirs, successors,
15		assigns, principals, trustees, sureties, subrogates, representatives and insurers of
16		Defendant.
17		JURISDICTION AND VENUE
18	9.	Jurisdiction of this Court arises pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1693; and 28 U.S.C. §
19		1367 for supplemental State claims.
20	10.	Defendant has sufficient minimum contacts with California and have otherwise
21		intentionally availed itself of the markets in California through the promotion,
22		marketing, and sale of its products and services, sufficient to render the exercise
23		of jurisdiction by this Court permissible under traditional notions of fair play and
24		substantial justice.

1	11. Venue is proper in this District under 28 U.S.C. §1391(b)(2) and (3) because: (i)
2	a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to these claims occurred
3	in this District; (ii) Defendant is subject to the Court's personal jurisdiction with
4	respect to this action because Defendant conducts business in this judicial
5	district; and (iii) Plaintiff resides in this judicial district.
6	PARTIES
7	12. Plaintiff and those similarly situated, are and at all times mentioned herein were,
8	individual citizens and residents of the United States of America or the State of
9	California.
10	13. Plaintiff is, and all times mentioned herein was, an individual citizen and resident
11	of the County of San Diego, State of California. Additionally, at all times
12	mentioned herein was, a "consumer" as that term is defined by 15 U.S.C. §
13	1692a(3) and is a "debtor" as defined by Cal. Civ. Code § 1788.2(h).
14	14. Defendant UHG I, LLC is a New York Corporation with its Corporate
15	headquarters located at: 6400 Sheridan Dr., Suite 138, Williamsville, NY 14221.
16	15. At all times relevant to this complaint, Defendant was a company engaged, by
17	use of the mails and telephone, in the business of collecting a debt from Plaintiff
18	which qualifies as a "debt," as defined by 15 U.S.C. §1692a(5) and a "consumer
19	debt" as defined by Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1788.2(f). Defendant regularly attempts to
20	collect debts alleged to be due another, and therefore is a "debt collector" as
21	defined by the FDCPA, 15 U.S.C. §1692a(6) and California Civil Code §§
22	1788.2(c).
23	16. Defendant's primary business is operating as a third-party debt collector.
24	GENERAL ALLEGATIONS
25	17. A payday loan is a type of short-term, high-cost loan that is typically used to
26	cover unexpected expenses or to bridge the gap between paychecks. The loan is
27	typically due on the borrower's next payday, hence the name. Payday loans are
28	also known as cash advance loans, check advance loans, or post-dated check
	CASE NO.: 4 of 15 Powell v. UGH I, LLC CLASS COMPLAINT

1	loans.
2	18. The interest rate for a payday loan is often much higher than for other types of
3	loans, and can range from around 300% to 600% APR (Annual Percentage Rate).
4	This means that if you borrow $100 for two weeks, it can cost you between $15
5	to $30. So vast majority of these loans become essentially "interest only" loans
6	and/or subject to default and additional penalties.
7	19. Defendant is a high-volume debt buyer that purchases charged off payday loans
8	that have been inflated by their unconscionable interest. Once purchased,
9	Defendant mass files these cases in court against consumers in order to attempt
10	to collect on these unconscionable loans.
11	20. The typical California consumer is unlikely to be aware that such high Annual
12	Percentage Rate ("APR") are prohibited by California law. In De La Torre v.
13	CashCall, Inc., 5 Cal. 5th 966, 973, 236 Cal. Rptr. 3d 353, 357, 422 P.3d 1004
14	(2018), the California Supreme Court clarified that APR can be unconscionable,
15	just like any other term in a contract.
16	PLAINTIFF'S EXPERIENCE
17	21. In 2018, Plaintiff moved to San Diego from Kansas. At the time Plaintiff had just
18	began a new job and was not making much at the time. Desperate for money to
19	bridge the gap while he got on his feet, Plaintiff ended up applying for a payday
20	loan with CashNetUSA.
21	22. On or about September 13, 2018, CashNetUSA offered Plaintiff a loan of $3,500
22	at an APR of 128.4% on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. Needing the money, Plaintiff
23	took the loan. Over the lifetime of the loan, Plaintiff would be paying $6,358.11,
24	such that the total amount Plaintiff would have to payback was $9,858.11.
25	23. After making several payments, unfortunately Plaintiff fell behind on his loan
26	payments and from there the loan began to balloon at a rapid pace. By the time
27	the loan eventually charged off it had grown to $5,671.62.
28	CASE NO.: 5 of 15 Powell v. UGH I, LLC
	CLASS COMPLAINT

1	24. Defendant bought the debt sometime after Plaintiff defaulted on the debt.
2	25. On May 19, 2021, Defendant filed a lawsuit against Plaintiff in order to collect
3	the outstanding balance of the debt, which had ballooned up to $5,671.62 due to
4	the unconscionable APR interest associated with the underlying debt.
5	26. This case is still active as of the filing of this complaint.
6	27. By bringing lawsuits and trying to collect on debts resulting from payday loans
7	exceeding 90%, Defendant is attempting to collect on unconscionable debts in
8	violation of the law.
9	28. Plaintiff and other consumers similarly situated would not know that the terms of
10	the contract are unconscionable and thus Defendant is forbidden from attempting
11	to collect on these unconscionable debts.
12	CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS
13	29. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference all of the above paragraphs of
14	this Complaint as though fully stated herein.
15	30. Plaintiff and the members of the Class have all suffered an injury in fact as a
16	result of the Defendant's unlawful conduct.
17	31. Plaintiff bring this lawsuit on behalf of themselves and other similarly situated
18	individuals under Rule 23(b)(1), 23(b)(2) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil
19	Procedures.
20	32. Subject to additional information obtained through further investigation and/or
21	discovery, the proposed California class ("California Class") consists of:
22	All persons in the State of California from whom
23	Defendant has attempted to collect a loan with an annual
24	percentage rate (APR) exceeding 90 percent in the four years preceding the filing of this complaint.
25
26	A. Ascertainability. The members of the Class are readily ascertainable from
27	Defendant's records of loans it has purchased and collected on during each
28
	CASE NO.: 6 of 15 Powell v. UGH I, LLC CLASS COMPLAINT

1		respective class period, and the specific terms and parties identified therein.
2	B.	Numerosity . The members of the Class are so numerous that their individual
3		joinder is impracticable. Plaintiff are informed and believes, and on that
4		basis alleges, that Defendant purchases hundreds, if not thousands, of debts
5		from payday lenders, which it then files across California.
6	C.	Existence and Predominance of Common Questions of Law and Fact.
7		Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Class and
8		predominate over any questions affecting only individual Class Members.
9		All members of the Class have been subject to the same conduct and their
10		claims are based on the widespread dissemination of the unlawful, deceptive,
11		and pernicious conduct by Defendant. The common legal and factual
12		questions include, but are not limited to, the following:
13		i. the nature, scope, and operations of the wrongful practices of Defendant;
14		ii. whether Defendant engaged in a course of unfair, unlawful, fraudulent,
15		and/or pernicious conduct in its debt collection practices.
16		iii. whether Defendant knew or should have known that its business
17		practices were unfair, and/or unlawful;
18		iv. whether Defendant's debts' comprised of interest obtained from
19		unconscionable loans that were so high that they were unreasonable
20		and/or violated California law, public policy and/or the FDCPA.
21		v. whether Defendant harmed Plaintiff and the Class; and
22		vi. whether Defendant was unjustly enriched by its unlawful and unfair
23		business practices;
24		vii. whether Defendant was attempting to collect an amounts not authorized
25		by law from Plaintiff and the Class.
26	D .	Typicality . Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the members of the
27		Class in that Plaintiff is a member of each Class that Plaintiff seeks to represent. Plaintiff, like members of the proposed Class, was contacted by Defendant in an attempt to collect a debt that stemmed from an unconscionable and void contract.

- E. Adequacy of Representation. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the members of the Class. Plaintiff has retained counsel experienced in consumer protection law, including class actions. Plaintiff has no adverse or antagonistic interests to those of the Class, and will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Class. Plaintiff's attorneys are aware of no interests adverse or antagonistic to those of Plaintiff and the proposed Class.
- Superiority. A class action is superior to all other available means for the F. 11 fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy. Individualized litigation 12 would create the danger of inconsistent and/or contradictory judgments 13 arising from the same set of facts. Individualized litigation would also 14 increase the delay and expense to all parties and the courts and the issues 15 raised by this action. The damages or other financial detriment suffered by 16 individual Class Members may be relatively small compared to the burden 17 and expense that would be entailed by individual litigation of the claims 18 against the Defendant. The injury suffered by each individual member of the 19 proposed class is relatively small in comparison to the burden and expense 20 of individual prosecution of the complex and extensive litigation necessitated 21 by Defendant's conduct. It would be virtually impossible for members of the 22 proposed Class to individually redress effectively the wrongs to them. Even 23 if the members of the proposed Class could afford such litigation, the Court 24 system could not. Individualized litigation increases the delay and expense 25 to all parties, and to the court system, presented by the complex legal and 26 factual issues of the case. By contrast, the class action device presents far 27 28

4 5	33. Unless the Class is certified, Defendant will continue its unlawful, unfair, and
6	predatory practices as described herein. If the Class is certified, the harms to the
7	public and the Class can be easily prevented or rectified.
8	34. Furthermore, Defendant has acted or refused to act on grounds that are generally
9	applicable to the Class so that declaratory and injunctive relief is appropriate to
10	the Class as a whole, making class certification appropriate pursuant to Fed R.
11	Civ. P. 23(b)(2).

13	FOR VIOLATIONS OF CALIFORNIA'S UNFAIR COMPETITION LAW
14	CAL. BUS. & PROF. CODE §§ 17200, ET SEQ.
15	(ON BEHALF OF PLAINTIFF AND THE CLASS)

18	36. Plaintiff and Defendant are each "person(s)" as that term is defined by Cal. Bus.
19	& Prof. C. § 17201. Cal. Bus & Prof. C. § 17204 authorizes a private right of
20	action on both an individual and representative basis.
21	37. Cal. Bus. & Prof. C. § 17204, a provision of the Unfair Competition Law (B &

23	on the public officials named therein, but on private individuals, i.e., "any person
24	acting for the interests of itself, its members or the general public." Thus, a private
25	Plaintiff who has suffered a financial injury may sue to obtain relief for others.
26	38. "Unfair competition" is defined by Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 as encompassing
27	several types of business "wrongs," including: (1) an "unlawful" business act or

1	45. Furthermore, Defendant's attempts to collect on these unconscionable loans
2	violated the RFDCPA and FDCPA as described above.
3	46. Thus, Defendant's conduct has violated the "unlawful" prong of California
4	Business & Professions Code § 17200.
5	"Unfair" Prong
6	47. California Business & Professions Code § 17200 prohibits any "unfair
7	business act or practice."
8	48. In order to satisfy the "unfair" prong of the UCL, a consumer must show that the
9	injury: (1) is substantial; (2) is not outweighed by any countervailing benefits to
10	consumers or competition; and, (3) is not one that consumers themselves could
11	reasonably have avoided.
12	49. Here, as mentioned above, Defendant's filing of civil actions against consumers
13	in order to attempt to collect unconscionable debts causes substantial injury to
14	consumers as it forces them to retain counsel and most likely end up paying
15	Defendant for loans that are void against public policy.
16	50. Defendant's actions have no countervailing benefits to consumers.
17	51. Furthermore, consumers could not have avoided Defendant's harm. As
18	mentioned above, these are predatory loans that prey on vunerable low-income
19	consumers. Furthermore, at the point that Defendant is collecting on these debts,
20	the consumers have already entered into the debts and thus believe they have no
21	option but to pay Defendant.
22	52. Thus, Defendant's conduct has violated the "unfair" prong of California Business
23	& Professions Code § 17200.
24	"Fraudulent" Prong
25	53. California Business & Professions Code § 17200 prohibits any "fraudulent
26	business act or practice." In order to prevail under the "fraudulent" prong of the
27	UCL, a consumer must allege that the fraudulent business practice was likely to 28
	CASE NO.: 11 of 15 Powell v. UGH I, LLC CLASS COMPLAINT

1	deceive members of the public.
2	54. The test for "fraud" as contemplated by California Business and Professions
3	Code § 17200 is whether the public is likely to be deceived. Unlike common law
4	fraud, a § 17200 violation can be established even if no one was actually
5	deceived, relied upon the fraudulent practice, or sustained any damage.
6	55. Here, Defendant files lawsuit and contacts consumers to collect on void debts.
7	These collection attempts are misrepresentations to the consumer that the
8	underlying debts are valid and enforceable.
9	56. However, as described in detail above, any of these debts exceeding an APR of
10	90% are unenforceable under California law.
11	57. Thus, Defendant's conduct has violated the "fraudulent" prong of California
12	Business & Professions Code § 17200.
